The Practice and the Lab provide you the opportunity to communicate in certain circumstances with certain healthcare providers and administrative services by e-mail. Transmitting confidential patient information by e-mail, however, has a number of risks, both general and specific, that you should consider before using e-mail.

Risks:
Among the risks:
• E-mail can be circulated, forwarded, and stored in numerous paper and electronic files.
• E-mail can be immediately broadcast worldwide and be received by many intended and unintended recipients.
• Recipients can forward e-mail messages to other recipients without the original sender’s permission or knowledge.
• Users can easily misaddress an e-mail.
• E-mail is easier to falsify than handwritten or signed documents.
• Backup copies of e-mail may exist even after the sender or the recipient has deleted his or her copy.
• Employers and on-line services have a right to archive and inspect e-mails transmitted through their systems.
• E-mail can be used to introduce viruses into computer systems.
• E-mail can be used as evidence in court.
• E-mail containing information pertaining to your diagnosis and/or treatment must be included in the your medical records here at the Practice or the Lab. Thus, all individuals who have access to your medical record will have access to the e-mail messages.
• If you send or receive e-mail from your place of employment, you risk having your employer read their e-mail. Your employers or others, such as insurance companies, may read your e-mail and learn of medical treatment, particularly mental health, sexually transmitted diseases, or alcohol and drug abuse information.
• You cannot be sure how soon the Practice or the Lab will respond to your e-mail. Although the Practice and the Lab will endeavor to read and respond to e-mail promptly, we cannot guarantee that any particular e-mail message will be read and responded to within any particular period of time. Thus, patients should not use e-mail in a medical emergency.

Our Policy
The Practice and the Lab will make all e-mail messages sent or received that concern your diagnosis or treatment part of your medical record, and will treat such email messages with the same degree of confidentiality as afforded other portions of the medical record. The Practice and the Lab will use reasonable means to protect the security and confidentiality of e-mail information. Because of the risks outlined above, we cannot, however, guarantee the security and confidentiality of e-mail communication. and will not be liable for improper disclosure of confidential information that is not caused by the Practice or the Lab’s intentional misconduct. Thus, you must consent to the use of e-mail for confidential medical information after having been informed of the above risks. Consent to the use of e-mail includes agreement with the following conditions:
• The Practice or the Lab may send (either directly or through a third party e-mail service) unsecured/unencrypted e-mails to you to confirm appointments. These e-mails contain your e-mail address, as well as the date, time, and location of your appointment.
• The Practice or the Lab may send (using a secured/encrypted third party service) e-mail providing normal lab results.
All e-mails to or from you concerning diagnosis and/or treatment will be made a part of your medical record. As a part of the medical record, other individuals, such as other physicians, nurses, staff counselors, patient accounts personnel, and the like, and other entities, such as other health care providers and insurers, will have access to e-mail messages contained in medical records.

The Practice or the Lab may forward e-mail messages internally to its staff or externally to its agents for diagnosis, treatment, reimbursement and other handling. The Practice nor the Lab will not, however, forward the e-mail outside to independent third parties without your prior written consent, except as authorized or required by law.

The Practice or the Lab may send you e-mails to provide updates or other notifications regarding your clinical care as well as financial matters.

If you send an e-mail to the Practice or the Lab (one of its physicians, another healthcare provider, or an administrative department), we will endeavor to read the e-mail promptly and respond promptly, if warranted. However, the Practice and the Lab can provide no assurance that the recipient of a particular e-mail will read the e-mail message promptly. Because we cannot assure you that we will read e-mail messages promptly, do not use e-mail for situations, questions or conditions where a timely response is needed for diagnostic or treatment purposes or where time is of the essence, including, but not limited to a medical emergency.

If your e-mail requires or invites a response from us, and you do not respond within a reasonable time, you are responsible for following up to determine whether the intended recipient received the e-mail and when the recipient will respond.

Do not use e-mail for communications concerning diagnosis or treatment of AIDS/HIV infection; other sexually transmissible or communicable diseases, such as syphilis, gonorrhea, herpes, and the like; mental health or developmental disability; or alcohol and drug abuse.

Attention All Aetna Patients - You may be required to register with Aetna’s Infertility Hotline. If a patient is required by Aetna to register with the Aetna Infertility Hotline but fails to do so, Aetna will not consider paying for any services, and all services rendered will be your responsibility. Call 1.800.575.5999 to obtain your registration number, and complete the below:
My Aetna Registration No. is: ____________________________ OR____ I called Aetna and was informed that I am not required to register.
As part of our effort to control the cost of health care for our patients and streamline our administrative processes, we have established an automated credit or debit card system for your convenience. This will simplify payment of your potential co-pays, deductibles, or any 'non-covered' services. This system is similar to what car rental agencies and hotels do worldwide. Our system will securely hold your card information until your health insurance processes your claims and mails you their “Explanation of Benefits” which outlines your financial obligation. Your card will only be charged once your insurance company specifies your exact responsibility. It is the intent of this policy to save you time and simplify the billing process. Your card information will be stored in a confidential and secure setting. Once your card information has been entered, this document will be shredded.

This authorizes ACRM to charge your card (listed below) for any balances due on your account for services provided by either ACRM or CCRM - Atlanta. You will always be advised via a printed ACRM statement of any charge made to your card via this authorization. If the balance is less than $500, we will charge your card and mail your receipt. For balances above $500, we will contact you by email or phone regarding the balance due, then charge your card if we have not heard back from you by the close of the next business day.
